

Bringing Barn Owls Back to Eastern NY State

Wes Laraway, Director of New York Wildlife Rescue Center, in Schoharie County, is working to re-establish the Barn Owl population in Eastern NY.

He travels with his owls to tell of the role barn owls have in controlling rodents and to show that they would be graceful, beautiful neighbors. He encourages farmers and other property owners to install an owl nesting box so migrating barn owls may make it their home.

Contact Wes at:

www.nyswrc.org

www.redmaplefarm.net